

W. R. C. and G. A. R. Elections.

At the last meeting of Chamberlin W. R. C., the following officers were elected:

President, Mrs. Henrietta Gorham.
Senior vice president, Mrs. Mina Young.
Junior vice president, Mrs. Mary Brooks.
Treasurer, Miss Anne Carr.
Chaplain, Mrs. Cordelia Caswell.
Conductor, Miss Abbie Thomas.
Guard, Mrs. Ida Wilcomb.

Delegates to the department convention, Mrs. Mary Sweet, Miss Anne Carr; alternates, Mrs. Cora Hamilton, Mrs. Bertha Hurley.

As has been the custom in previous years it was voted to send a collection of Christmas gifts and dainties to the veterans in the Soldiers' Home and the president appointed the following committee to have this matter in charge: Mrs. Sarah F. Hovey, Mrs. Nancy Hooker, Mrs. Lucy Young, Mrs. S. P. Pinney of Passumpsic. All members of the W. R. C., G. A. R., and any others, who may esteem it a privilege are requested to leave their contributions at the home of Maj. N. P. Bowman, or with any member of the committee, on or before December 12. Table covers, rugs and any other chamber furnishings, old cotton for bandages, all kinds of canned goods, cigars and any dainties one may have in store, will be appreciated by these veterans and the management of the home. It all could witness the eagerness and delight which these "soldier-boys" manifest when a box is being opened, it would be more of a pleasure to send these trifling gifts.

At the annual meeting of Chamberlin Post, No. 1, G. A. R., Saturday evening there was a larger attendance than has been before for five years. Two new members were initiated, Rev. J. W. Hird of Waterford and George W. Hooker, recently moved here from Danville. Members were present from Passumpsic, Barnet, Lyndon, Lyndonville, Danville and Waterford. These officers were elected for the coming year:

Commander, Albert Harris.
Senior Vice Commander, A. P. Hawley.
Junior Vice Commander, Ethan E. Carr.
Quartermaster, Charles H. Woodbury.
Sergeant, Dr. H. C. Newell.
Chaplain, D. V. Burbank.
Officer of the Day, J. D. Orcutt.
Officer of the Guard, Charles H. West.
Trustees, E. L. Hovey, George R. Crosby, W. H. H. Rollins.

Department Delegates, T. M. Keith, J. S. Thompson; alternates, Dr. L. W. Hubbard, John McDonald.

Because of the large attendance and the visiting members a campfire was improvised, which proved of great interest. Remarks were made by Dr. L. W. Hubbard, J. S. Thompson, Rev. J. W. Hird, A. P. Hawley, Marshall Montgomery, Charles H. West, Carlton Felch and John McDonald. Refreshments were served by the Relief Corps.

The public installation of officers of the Relief Corps and the Post will be held at the first meeting in January.

Death of Mrs. Frost.

The home of Rev. J. M. Frost has been saddened by the death of his mother, Mrs. Emma Frost, which occurred last Wednesday evening. Emma Newman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Newman, was born in Hereford, England, June 12, 1822; but after her marriage to Edward Frost her home was in Faversham. From her youth Mrs. Frost was an ardent Methodist, and filled the office of class leader and steward until, following her husband's death, she left her native land for America in 1875. During these later years, as a member of her son's household, her strong and beautiful Christian influence has been felt by all who were privileged to know her.

Since coming to St. Johnsbury, a year ago last April, she had been a member of the Seventy Club, keenly enjoying its social gatherings and contributing most entertainingly to its programs. In spite of increasing infirmities her kindly face brought its added blessing to most of the church services, and in W. H. M. S. and the ladies' prayer circle she was actively interested. Mrs. Frost's character was one that left its impress. She was so cheery, brave and unselfish; so true and loyal in all her relations; she possessed such a gracious charm of manner, and such a kindly interest in others. Until the last her mind was clear and vigorous, and she was most intelligently interested in all the questions of the day. Her home life was a beautiful in her loving devotion to her dear ones and in their tender care for her. Her days were brightened by the love and laughter of childhood. Yet of late she had longed for the Home beyond, and entered it in the Friday afternoon, after and trust. On Friday afternoon, the remains were taken to the chapel of Grace Methodist church of which she was a member, and funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. O. Sherburn, assisted by Revs. J. Hamilton, W. R. Mather and G. C. McDougall. The chapel was filled with her friends, and she was surrounded by a profusion of flowers as pure and fragrant as her life had been.

Rev. and Mrs. Frost accompanied the remains to York, Maine, where they were buried in the family lot. Mrs. Frost was the mother of four children, two of whom died in infancy, and two survive, Edward Collett, now of Portland, Oregon, and Rev. Joshua M. of this place. The family have the loving sympathy of many friends in their bereavement.

The entertainment and concert will be held from 8 to 9, dancing from 9 to 2. Refreshments will be served in the hall.

Franklin Babb of Lacombe, who was led to give himself to the work of the ministry under her Christian influence.

Local Jottings.

W. B. Eastman, the popular druggist, reports that he has had a large increase in the sales on the flesh-forming Mio-na and that his customers tell him that it does all that is claimed for it.

It is a fact that there are not nearly as many thin and scrawny people on the streets of St. Johnsbury today as there were a year ago. This is undoubtedly due to the general use of Mio-na, the flesh-forming food that W. B. Eastman has been selling in large quantities the last year. W. B. Eastman has so much confidence in Mio-na that he offers to pay for the treatment himself if it does not give satisfaction.

It pays to advertise articles of merit in the CALEDONIAN. While Mio-na has been advertised but little, yet W. B. Eastman says that it is the best selling article in his stock. "This shows the advantage of CALEDONIAN advertising when one has an article of special merit to sell on a 'no cure, no pay' plan, the way Mio-na, the flesh-forming food and digestion regulator is sold.

The following notice has been sent to the leading druggists in all cities through the country, among them W. B. Eastman of this city:

"You are hereby authorized to sell Mio-na with the distinct understanding that if it does not give an increase in weight and cure dyspepsia and all stomach troubles, the price is to be refunded to the customer on his simple statement that it did not give satisfaction."

THE R. T. BOOTH CO.

Do not make yourself or your friends miserable because of your dyspepsia. Mio-na is guaranteed by W. B. Eastman to cure this distressing disease and is sold with the distinct understanding that money will be refunded if it fails.

Montpelier people are feeling somewhat anxious concerning the city's supply of water, and unless there is a heavy fall of rain within a short time it will be necessary to resort to pumps. The water has fallen at the rate of an inch a week for some time past and recently it has fallen still more rapidly.

The contract for erecting the McKinley monument in Niagara Square, Buffalo, has been informally awarded and the material used will be the best quality of Vermont white marble. The contract will exceed $90,000.

Woman In Business

As Illustrated by the Pathetic Story of Toby

From "Letters From a Self Made Merchant to His Son," by George Horace Lorimer. By permission of Small, Maynard & Co., Publishers, Boston

I never do business with a woman that I don't think of a little incident which happened when I was first married to my ma. We set up housekeeping in one of those cottages that you read about in the story books, but that you want to shy away from when it's put up to you to live in one of them. It was just the place to go for a picnic, but it's been my experience that a fellow does most of his picknicking before he's married.

Your ma did the cooking and I hustled for things to cook, though I would take a shy at it myself once in awhile and get up my muscle tossing flapjacks. It was pretty rough sailing, you bet, but one way and another we managed to get a good deal of satisfaction out of it, because we had made up our minds to take our fun as we went along. With most people happiness is something that is always just a day off. But I have made it a rule never to put off being happy till tomorrow.

I was clerking in a general store at that time, but I had a little weakness for live stock even then, and while I couldn't afford to plunge in it exactly I managed to buy a likely little shote that I reckoned on carrying through the summer on credit and presenting with a bill for board in the fall. He was just a plain pig when he came to us, and we kept him in a little sty, but we weren't long in finding out that he wasn't any ordinary root and grunt pig. The first I knew your ma was calling him Toby and had turned him loose. Answered to his name like a dog. Never saw such a sociable pig. Wanted to sit on the porch with us. Tried to come into the house evenings. Used to run down the road squealing for joy when he saw me coming home from work.

Well, it got on toward November, and Toby had been making the most of his opportunities. I never saw a pig that turned corn into fat so fast, and the stouter he got the better his disposition grew. I reckon I was attached to him myself in a sort of a sneaking way, but I was mighty fond of hog meat, too, and we needed Toby in the kitchen. So I sent around and had him butchered.

When I got home to dinner next day, I noticed that your ma looked mighty solemn as she set the roast of pork down in front of me, but I stayed off, thinking of something else as I carved, and my wits were off woolgathering sure enough when I said:

"Will you have a piece of Toby, my dear?"

Well, sir, she just looked at me for a moment, and then she burst out crying and ran away from the table. But when I went after her and asked her what was the matter she stopped crying and was mad in a minute all the way through. Called me a heartless, cruel cannibal. That seemed to relieve her so that she got over her mad and began to cry again. Begged me to take Toby out of pickle and to bury him in the garden. I reasoned with her, and in the end I made her see that any obsequies for Toby, with pork at 8 cents a pound, would be a pretty expensive funeral for us. But first and last she had managed to take my appetite away so that I didn't want any roast pork for dinner or cold pork for supper.

That night I took what was left of Toby to a storekeeper at the Crossing, who I knew would be willing to gaze on his hams without bursting into tears, and got a pretty fair price for him.

I simply mention Toby in passing as an example of why I believe women weren't cut out for business—at least for the pork packing business. I've had dealings with a good many of them, first and last, and it's been my experience that when they've got a weak case they add their sex to it and win, and that when they've got a strong case they subtract their sex from it and deal with you harder than a man. They're simply bound to win either way, and I don't like to play a game where I haven't any show. When a clerk makes a fool break, I don't want to beg his pardon for calling his attention to it, and I don't want him to blush and tremble and leak a little brine into a fancy pocket handkerchief.

A little change is a mighty soothing thing, and I like a woman's ways too much at home to care very much for them at the office. Instead of hiring women I try to hire their husbands, and then I usually have them both working for me. There's nothing like a woman at home to spur on a man at the office.

GOING THE WHOLE HOG

You Must Do It to Win in Pork Packing and Other Things

You've got to believe that the Lord made the first hog with the Graham brand burned in the skin and that the drove which rushed down a steep place was packed by a competitor. You've got to know your goods from A to Z, and in the can. You've got to know 'em like a young mother knows baby talk and to be as proud of 'em as the young father of a twelve pound boy, without really thinking that you're stretching it four pounds. You've got to believe in yourself and make your buyers take stock in you at par and accrued interest. You've got to have the scent of a bloodhound for an order and the grip of a bulldog on a customer. You've got to feel the same personal solicitude over a bill of goods that strays off to a competitor as a parson over a backslider and hold special services to bring it back into the fold. You've got to get up every morning with determination if you're going to go to bed with satisfaction. You've got to eat hog, think hog, dream hog—in short, go the whole hog—if you're going to win out in the pork packing business.

That's a pretty liberal receipt, I know, but it's intended for a fellow who wants to make a good sized pie. And the only thing you ever find in pastry that you don't put in yourself is by—From "Letters From a Self Made Merchant to His Son," by George Horace Lorimer.

PLAY AND PIE

Both Good, but It Isn't Wise to Make a Meal of Either

Of course all this is going to take so much time and thought that you won't have a very wide margin left for golf—especially in the afternoons. I simply mention this in passing, because I see in the Chicago papers which have been sent me that you were among the players on the links one afternoon a fortnight ago. Golf's a nice, foolish game and there ain't any harm in it so far as I know except for the balls—the stiff balls at the beginning, the lost balls in the middle and the highballs at the end of the game. But a young fellow who wants to be a boss butcher hasn't much daylight to waste on any kind of links except sausage links.

Of course a man should have a certain amount of play, just as a boy is entitled to a piece of pie at the end of his dinner, but he one who lets slinkers take the place of bread and meat gets bilious pretty young, and these fellows who haven't any job except to blow the old man's dollars are a good deal like the little niggers in the pie eating contest at the county fair—they're a plenty of pastry and they're attracting a heap of attention, but they've got a stomach ache coming to them by and by—From "Letters From a Self Made Merchant to His Son," by George Horace Lorimer.

There is one feature in the work of the Carnegie institution which is of widespread importance, and that is the selection of twenty-five "research assistants," to each of whom is given a sum of $1,000 or 1,200. These "research assistants" are for the most part young persons who have already been well trained, and are prepared to receive definite lines of instruction under the guidance of older, higher qualified leaders. These men are not allowed to be "assistants" in the ordinary use of that word, nor to engage in instruction.
